

The Eyes Have It (or, Look Out! Here They Come Again!)

Word: Morgana

Tune: When Irish Eyes are Smiling by Ernest R. Ball

The musical score is written on four staves in treble clef, with a key signature of one sharp (F#) and a 3/4 time signature. The melody consists of quarter and eighth notes, with some phrases spanning across bar lines. The lyrics are printed below the notes, with hyphens indicating syllables that span across notes or bar lines.

When Mon - gol eyes are smi - ling, Then it means a raid in Spring,
In the lilt of Mon - gol laugh - ter, You can hear the broad - swords ring.
When Mon - gol hearts are hap - py, It means yours is theirs to - day,
And when Mon - gol eyes are smi - ling, Sure, they'll steal your gold a - way.

When Mongol eyes are smiling, then it means a raid in Spring,
In the lilt of Mongol laughter, you can hear the broadswords ring.
When Mongol hearts are happy, it means yours is theirs today,
And when Mongol eyes are smiling, sure, they'll steal your gold away.

When Moorish eyes are smiling, it's slave caravans in Spring,
In the lilt of Moorish laughter, you can hear the slave chains ring,
When Moorish hearts are happy, it means you are theirs today,
And when Moorish eyes are smiling, sure, they'll steal your girls away.

When Viking eyes are smiling, long ships harbor in your springs,
A Vikings always laughing, while he burns down everything,
Oh a Viking likes to pillage, and he likes to rape and burn,
So when Viking eyes are smiling, then it means that it's your turn.

When Norman eyes are smiling, they will want to be your king,
In the aftermath of conquest, they'll take over everything,
A Norman's never happy, unless he can have his way,
And when Norman eyes are smiling, they'll steal your lands away.
