

The Unicorn Song

Words and Music by Moonwulf

Well, you know that I once had a u-ni-corn for a friend, One time, a long time a - go.

His horn was of twis-ted gold, poin-ted on the end, And his coat was of sil-ver-white snow.

Some-times he'd let me climb up on his back, And we'd ride through the moun-tains all day;

He told me the sec-rets that u-ni-corns know, And I missed him when he went a - way.

Well, you know that I once had a unicorn for a friend,
One time, a long time ago.
His horn was of twisted gold, pointed on the end,
And his coat was of silver-white snow.
Sometimes he'd let me climb up on his back,
And we'd ride through the mountains all day;
He told me the secrets that unicorns know,
And I missed him when he went away.

I once knew a dragon, a cousin of Puff,
All yellow and bright golden-red.
He looked ferocious, but he never breathed fire,
He just blew big smoke rings instead.
Sometimes he'd let me climb up on his back,
And we'd fly through the mountains all day;
He told me the secrets that all dragons know,
And I missed him when he went away.

And now I've got a manticore for a friend,
And he sure is ugly to see.
He's nasty and vicious, and he'll eat anything,
And he's standing right behind (GOBBLESLURPCRUNCHCRUNCH!!)
